Title:	Inglisize It!	Date:	7/21/98

WOMAN: (breathing through a "Darth Vader"-like filter helmet) Oh! I just don't know what to do. I scrub and I scrub and I can't seem to get this toxic waste dump clean.

ANNCR: Hold on there. There's no need to slave over a hot toxic waste site in a biohazard suit.

WOMAN: No?

ANNCR: No. Don't clean it. Inglisize it!

SFX: (air pressure released as the helmet is removed)

WOMAN: Inglisize?

ANNCR: That's right. Do what Congressman Bob Inglis does. When the South Carolina environment becomes hazardous to the public, ignore it. Just listen to all the things you don't get when you Inglisize. You don't get the right to know what toxic poisons industries are releasing into your community.

WOMAN: I had no idea.

ANNCR: Wait, there's more. Bob Inglis will cut and chop, slice and dice, even julienne water treatment and clean water standards. Look at the way Bob Inglis slashes environmental protection funding by 32% and then directs the EPA not to enforce regulations that protect the public from cancer causing hazards. South Carolina's hazardous waste dumps won't be cleaned up like they should. And best of all, all the guilty polluters are absolved of their responsibility. Polluters don't pay. What could be easier?

WOMAN: The more I hear about Bob Inglis, the more questions I have. How do I get some answers?

STRAIGHT Call Bob Inglis today at 864-232-1141 and tell him to stop risking our environment.

ANNCR: That's wrong for South Carolina. Paid for by the South Carolina Democratic Party.

Title:	The Tour	Date:	7/21/98

SFX: (Tour bus noises)

BUS TOUR GUIDE: (speaking through a microphone) Who's enjoying their South Carolina photo safari tour, raise your hands?

SFX: (cheers)

TOUR GUIDE: Fantastic. Good. We're now in front of the expensive new home of Congressman Bob Inglis...

TOURIST #1: (interrupting) Ooh, can we get out and take pictures?

TOUR GUIDE: Yes, but don't get too close. From his voting record, it's evident Bob Inglis doesn't care too much for people.

TOURIST #2: Yeah, I've heard that. He's the one who voted against putting more federal funding into cleaning up South Carolina's hazardous waste dumps.

TOUR GUIDE: We're okay here. Bob Inglis made sure his own home was clean before voting.

TOURIST #1: What's he doing for the rest of the state?

TOUR GUIDE: Well, they're on their own. He voted against the public's right to know what corporate polluters were dumping into their communities.

TOURIST #1: That's not right.

TOURIST #2: Neither is lowering clean water standards.

TOUR GUIDE: It's the extreme nature of Bob Inglis. It's what makes him so fascinating. Dangerous, yet fascinating.

TOURIST #3: Here he comes!

SFX: (frightened gasps)

TOUR GUIDE: Quick everyone, back in the bus.

FEMALE ANNCR: Call Bob Inglis at 864-232-1141 and tell him to stop risking our environment. That's wrong for South Carolina. Paid for by the South Carolina Democratic Party.

Title:	The Bubble Family	Date:	7/21/98

FEMALE NEWS ANCHOR: For our next story, we go to South Carolina to meet...the Bubble Family? Miles Cochran explains.

REPORTER MILES: Holly, I'm in the seemingly normal home of the Little's – normal, except the entire family has been living in a giant plastic bubble since 1993. Mr. Little, why?

SFX: (microphone bumps the plastic)

REPORTER MILES: Excuse me. Why the bubble?

MR. LITTLE: (muted garble)

REPORTER MILES: Mr. Little, We can't hear... wait, he's writing it down. (reading) As long as Congressman Bob Inglis is out there voting to let companies dump toxic poisons in the environment without telling anybody, we're not talking any chances.

(aside) Jeez.

(reading again) Bob Inglis voted to reduce water treatment and clean water regulations.

(aside) I didn't know that.

(reading) And he voted against letting the EPA enforce regulations that protect us from cancer-causing hazards.

Yikes. This is Miles Cochran reporting live from inside the plastic...

SFX: (Bubble zipper opens, then closes)

REPORTER MILES: (muted, garbled) bubble.
